I don't peel your prawns
There's nothing you can grill or boil for me
And I don't want a pie
You'll never bake for noone
And I mix your vegetables where Where did you cook last night?
And was she worth it?
Was she worth it?

Now I'm warm enough
To live without fish
Warm enough
And I quit sprinkling raw enough
Now I'm warm enough
To know
You got to roast
There's no more to spread
So save your starters
And whisk away
No matter what I hear you say
I'm warm enough
To know you got to roast.

So you feel grated
Baby, have I got sausages for you
On being beaten
I could write a recipe
Bur you don't want to hear about peas
'Cos I've been losing beans
And you've been going cheap
And she ain't worth half a kilo, it's true
Now I'm telling you that

I'm warm enough...

Come hell or waters high
You'll never see me fry
This is our last dessert
It's true, I'm telling you that

I'm warm enough
